LACO Associates has opened a new office in Ukiah. The firm is enthusiastic about contributing as an active member of the greater Ukiah and Mendocino communities.

David Bahr, P.E., will be heading the Ukiah office. He is passionate in leading his team to produce value for his clients and contributing to the growth and prosperity of the community. Mr. Bahr, a registered Civil Engineer, has over 28 years of successful accomplishments in commercial and residential development, public works design and upgrades, and associated regulatory compliance.

Offering a broad range of planning, geotechnical, civil and environmental consulting services, LACO has been creating successful projects that benefit the businesses, communities, and the environment surrounding their Eureka home office for over 55 years. Their team stands ready to assist local government, businesses, and individuals in creating solutions for their project needs. From the planning process to surveying and environmental assessments, geology and materials testing, to design and construction management, LACO is equipped to support every step of their clients' projects from concept to completion.
